No Surprises

Why access to records helps patients to understand and manage their conditions and health well in partnership with clinicians and staff.

Dr Amir Hannan

Dr Amir Hannan is a GP partner at Haughton Thornley Medical Centres (www.htmc.co.uk) in Hyde and as a pioneer of patient access to records, helping patients to self-care and gain a better understanding of their health.

Ingrid Brindle – Chair of Haughton Thornley Patient Participation Group

Ingrid Brindle talks about the confidence, independence and security that she's gained from being able to access her GP electronic health records. She describes a person's health as 'the most important project they'll ever do', therefore it's vital to have access to information to make the best possible health decisions.
